Ref: Orders from DOP&T regarding the implementation of MACP.

Subject : Request to reduce the eligibility service for Helper to attend the LDCE Exam in the light of MACP

Madam,

We request your kind attention to the following few lines:

As per the existing Recruitment rules, the employees in the cadre of Helper are eligible to attend the Limited Departmental Competitive Examination (LDCE) for the promotion to the cadre of Technician, only after attaining 11 years of service in Helper cadre.

The government, while implementing the recommendations of 5th CPC, extended benefit of ACP, which is the compensation for the delay in promotions to these cadres along with other central government employees, after completion of 12/24 years of service.

The government of India, on the recommendations of the 6th CPC implemented the Modified ACP(MACP) to the employees, after completion of 10/20/30 years of service.

It is irony, that the employees in the cadre are eligible for MACP (the compensation for delay in promotion) after 10 years but he/she will be eligible for promotion only after completion of 11 years.

We have already requested your goodself for the change in the RR of subordinate Engineering cadres including Helper through cadre review / separate proposals which may need time for the department to take a final decision.

Meanwhile we request your goodself to kindly take necessary steps to reduce the eligibility service for Helper to appear in the LDCE for promotion to the cadre of Technician from the present 11 years to 8 years of service in the light of the provision of MACP after 10 years of service.

We will grateful to your goodself if it can be incorporated before conducting the next examination for promotion from Helper to Technician.

Thanking You,

Yours sincerely,
